Overview

Duane Jones is a Board Certified Specialist in Appellate Practice with 23 years of experience. Since 2010, he has focused exclusively on appellate matters and is instrumental in navigating clients through appeals.

In his practice, he has contributed to over 200 briefs to the state appellate courts and has 20 oral arguments before the North Carolina Court of Appeals, the North Carolina Supreme Court, and the US Court of Appeals, Fourth Circuit.

In addition to leading the firm's appellate practice group, Duane has remained active in the North Carolina State Bar Appellate Rules Committee since 2012 where he is involved in improving the rules governing North Carolina appellate procedure.

A regular presenter on appellate practice, Duane has presented at the North Carolina Bar Association Appellate Practice Section Annual Meeting, the Workers' Compensation Practice Section Annual Meeting, the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys seminars, and before county bar associations. He has authored several amicus briefs on behalf of the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys.

Duane began his career as a workers' compensation attorney, and he continues to handle appeals before the North Carolina Industrial Commission. Before joining Hedrick Gardner, he served as a law clerk to Judge Linda McGee of the North Carolina Court of Appeals.

When not practicing law, you might find Duane hiking in the beautiful North Carolina mountains. He's also a devoted sports fan, cheering on the Pittsburgh Steelers, Atlanta Braves, and UNC Tarheels.

Experience

Cases or matters referenced are for illustrative purposes only, and do not represent the lawyer's or law firm's entire record. Each case is unique and must be evaluated on its own merits. The outcome of a particular case cannot be predicted based upon a lawyer's or law firm's past results. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome.
