Overview

With 25 years of legal experience, Matt has devoted over two decades almost exclusively to defending workers' compensation claims. During that time, he has developed exceptional skill in representing clients across all industries who face the various challenges presented by workers' compensation claims, genuinely embracing his role as both litigator and strategic advocate.

Matt counsels and represents defendants in the full spectrum of issues arising under the North Carolina Workers' Compensation Act. His practice encompasses complex occupational disease claims, multi-defendant litigation, coverage disputes, the specialized challenges presented by trucking and transportation claims, and many other facets of workers' compensation. Matt's comprehensive approach ensures clients receive skilled representation regardless of their industry or the complexity of their case.

Taking a client-centric approach, Matt adapts his support to meet the unique needs of each case and client. Many of his clients manage claims across multiple jurisdictions, and he takes tremendous satisfaction in serving as their trusted guide through the specific nuances of North Carolina workers' compensation litigation.

Matt's dedication to excellence in workers' compensation defense has earned him recognition by his peers, with inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America® from 2016 through 2025 in the field of Workers' Compensation Law – Employers.
