Keith Rivenbark has a natural competitive nature that he enjoys utilizing to be the best possible advocate for his clients. He faces challenges head-on, possessing the work ethic necessary to accomplish any goal before him. The first Rivenbark to attend college, the value of hard work and perseverance was instilled in Keith at a young age and he strives to continually improve himself, carrying through on every commitment he makes.

During law school, Keith was a quarterfinalist at the Richard A. Lord Intramural Moot Court Competition where he received the Award for Best Brief. He was also a Semifinalist at the Old Kivett Negotiation Competition. Before joining Hedrick Gardner, he served as a law clerk with a firm in Charleston, SC, and as a legal intern at a firm in Raleigh, NC.

Keith values time with friends and family and believes in a healthy balance of work and play. When not practicing law, he enjoys exploring Charlotte, attending Panthers home games, and traveling.
