A lifelong North Carolinian, Hunter Koehl is proud to be the first college graduate in his family.

His career path was set by the influence of several attorney role models. During law school, he served as Editor-in-Chief for the inaugural year of the Campbell Law Reporter podcast. Hunter completed multiple internships and received a pro bono award for completing over 100 hours of pro bono legal service.

Before joining Hedrick Gardner, Hunter worked as a staff attorney for Legal Aid of North Carolina. In this role, he served and mentored low-income individuals and at-risk youth.

When not practicing law, Hunter enjoys cheering on the Hurricanes and Yankees, being outdoors, working out, and spending time with his dog, Fisher.
