Avi Koren strives to be a problem-solver in his legal work. When asked what inspired him to become an attorney, he said, "I like the constant pursuit of knowledge and critical thinking required to practice law."

Avi's zeal for the craft led him to focus extensively on his legal research, analysis, and writing skills during law school, sharpening them through his experiences as a judicial clerk and law clerk. His experience makes him an excellent advocate for each of his clients as a Workers' Compensation associate at Hedrick Gardner.

His array of interests apart from law include playing guitar, hiking, photography, and golf.
