William White is driven by his mission to zealously advocate on behalf of his clients. His love of learning and natural curiosity enables him to directly address his client's needs and deliver optimum results. William does this by tackling challenges head-on while leaving no stone unturned.

After graduating from Furman University, William initially pursued a career in finance. However, during the COVID lockdowns, he took a leap of faith and decided to fulfill his love for learning and pursuit of truth by applying to and later attending the University of South Carolina Joseph F. Rice School of Law. While at USC, William was inducted into The Order of Barristers, argued in front of the South Carolina Court of Appeals as a finalist in the Kate Bockman Memorial Competition, competed as a member of USC's Moot Court Bar external competition team, and made the Dean's Honor List multiple times. Additionally, William drafted formal inter-agency guidance for the South Carolina Enterprise Privacy Office on large language models (LLMs) and the use of online chatbots in the workplace.

William was born and raised in Charlotte, North Carolina. He has two younger brothers who are doctors practicing in the fields of emergency medicine and internal medicine, respectively. He is also the proud owner of two golden retrievers, Boone and Bertie. When not practicing law, William enjoys spending time with friends and family, playing golf (poorly) and tennis (poorly), working out, reading, and watching reruns of the original Law & Order series and Dateline.
